Subject: my frustration with BDCP
RE the BDCP.docx

These are my thoughts after listening to BDCP talk for a couple of hours.
Basically, the users say no dice without more water. And the enviros justifiably question.
The base of contributors needs to be expanded.

I chatted with Karen about this; she's in agreement.
There's environmental doc issues involved, as I note, but I haven't pursued--
The water community speakers were pretty derisive of the State Board-- for no reason that I could tell other than the general premise that 'it's our water (or should be).'
